From Nancy...

As I look back at 2003...

I am happy to say I worked hard, and with a little help, more than expanded every nook and cranny of my life into brand new horizons—things will never be the same again! I am finally comfortable with who I am and excited about where my future is headed. Personally, I have never settled for “waiting for the phone to ring” or “crying over spilt milk,” when it came to my career. Why “settle” for mediocre when you can be creating so much more? Whether it is an audition, volunteer work, or just lunch with a friend—make the best of each moment. Today, I have more integrity, and as a result, I make better choices. It makes all the difference between a successful life/career, and one that is failing miserably. Whenever I take more responsibility for anything, things sky-rocket—it’s amazing!

When I am off doing one of my university lectures I always tell the students to surround themselves with good people—it is vital! I can never say enough good things about the people around me who have enhanced my personal goals as an artist. It has been beyond even my dreams. My staff work hard and seemingly tirelessly, although I personally know that their “boss” is a big, hulking “bully” who tends to spit on...

Nancy gets INNOVATIVE!

Nancy recently signed with Marcia Hurwitz of Innovative Artists, one of the top theatrical and literary agents in Hollywood. Marcia brings to the table twenty years of hard-won know-how carefully applied. With her refreshing in-your-face enthusiasm, Marcia will be opening new doors, with unique opportunities for Nancy’s voice-over future! Welcome aboard, Marcia!

Welcome Aboard!

Loeb & Loeb attorney, Leah Antonio-Ketcham, joins Nancy’s team as her entertainment legal advisor. Nancy looks forward to a long and prosperous relationship. Here they are at the annual Simpsons season party. That’s Nancy on the left, Leah and her charming daughter, Olivia on the right. And I don’t need to tell you where Bart’s foot is.

...anyone who refuses her so much as a 2-hour foot rub. (Hee hee!) It has indeed been an adventure, lots of ups and downs, but now mostly ups. With the aid of my highly trained personal ethics/career consultant, we have implemented a complete administrative overhaul in my career organization, bottom to top. It is this kind of dedication that enabled our team to win the Model of Admin Know-How Award for the very changes I speak of. As no artist does it alone, and not unlike the phrase “it takes a village to raise a child,” it takes a qualified team to raise an artist! And what a fabulous team we are! Here is looking toward more expansion in 2004! Thank you! And to all who receive my Nancy News, may all your dreams come true. Happy New Year!

For the nonce,
Nancy

The Way To Happiness...

Foundation celebrated its grand opening of its brand new International headquarters on October 4th, 2003, in Glendale, California. Nancy, a longtime spokesperson for the Foundation, entertained thousands as part of an entire day of festivities with her arsenal of voices; Bart, Ralph, Nelson, Chuckie and Rufus. The Way to Happiness book, written by philosopher and humanitarian L. Ron Hubbard, outlines 21 precepts that give children and adults alike, a way to live a more ethical and happier life. With proven changes amongst even the most hardened of criminals, the simple concepts contained in this distinctive book have helped bring order to life all over the world. Who can refuse this unique offering of help to have a happier life? Not many, and that is why Nancy has been a crusader for the TWTH Foundation long before it ever became a popular idea. In a time of untold worries around our globe—with war, crime, and day-to-day stress—one thing is for sure, these precepts work. So, try them out for yourself and your family by getting your own copy online at www.thewaytohappiness.org, if you haven't already.

Congratulations to the creative team of Kim Possible—The Movie!

Walt Disney Studios' "Kim Possible" has received top honors for an animated TV series from the 2003 Women's Image Network Awards. "Kim Possible" was also honored with a 2003 WIN Award as the Best Animated Series for the creatively produced episode, "Crush," created by Robert Schooley and Mark McCorkle.

Fan Club Contest Update

We have received some great essays stating just how much some of Nancy's fans want to run her fan club. But we need MORE! Go to www.nancycartwright.com and find the details and send in your essay. The deadline is April 15th, 2004 and we'll announce the winner in the May Newsletter. Happy On!

Kim Possible—the movie!

History's most heroic cheerleader is in a race against time—past, present and future—to save the planet from evil domination in "Kim Possible: A Stitch in Time," an all-new animated movie that premiered November 28 on the Disney Channel. This movie launches Kim Possible on her most adventurous struggle against a master villain yet. Kim is alerted to the plan by a visitor from the future; a buffed-up, talking descendent of everyone's favorite Naked Mole-rat—Rufus 3000. Kim, Rufus 3000 and Ron Stoppable must venture into the past, then way into the future, to try and halt the evil plot that threatens to change history. The movie features a notable guest cast: Kelly Ripa ("Live with Regis & Kelly," "Hope & Faith") as Future Bonnie; Freddie Prinze Jr. ("Scooby-Doo") as Future Jim and Tim; Raven ("That's So Raven") as Monique; Vivica A. Fox ("Boat Trip") as Future Monique; Elliott Gould ("Ocean's 11") as Ron's dad; Dakota Fanning ("Cat in the Hat") as the voice of Pre-Kindergarten Kim; and Michael Clark Duncan ("Daredevil") as Future Wade.

That's a Wrap...party!

Nancy Cartwright's career company, Cartwright Entertainment, Inc., celebrated with a pizza and beer wrap party after having completing the final version of, "A Day In Her Life" video. Nancy's life that is. It's a fast-paced, fun documentary that reveals how this single mother, professional voice-artist, and university lecturer, does it all. It follows Nancy through a typical day; from early morning exercises, then off to work on a crowded freeway, just barely escaping a traffic ticket, as she races from booth to booth to record The Simpsons, Kim Possible and Rugrats. Nancy ends off her hectic day at a glamorous Hollywood premiere for Rugrats Go Wild. This video was written and produced by Nancy's in-house team as an addition to her motivational university lecture. It is an inspiration to see—catch the next showing!

Nancy Wins $25,000

Nancy had the pleasure of doing a second appearance on The $25,000 Pyramid which is hosted by her teen idol, Donny Osmond. Donny himself made a guest appearance on Nancy's "glitter cake" at her recent Disco party birthday bash. Nancy just loves Donny, and gets a kick out of the game-show competition. Guess what? She's really good at the game! Her partners on the show made it to the coveted "Winner's Circle" more than once and Nancy got them really focused on WINNING. On the small screen also featured Nancy in VH1: Inside South Park. This journey behind the scenes of the making of South Park was hilarious and opened fans up to the minds and hearts of the creators, Matt Stone and Trey Parker.

Rugrats Grown Up!

The Rugrats spin-off All Grown Up showed no growing pains when it premiered on Saturday, Nov. 29. According to Nickelodeon, the show drew more than a third (3.2 million) of all kids watching cable TV for the timeslot. It was also Nick's highest-rated series premiere ever; the number of total viewers for AGU reached 5.2 million. Tweens made up a good chunk of the audience, proving that the franchise is succeeding in recapturing the interest of viewers who loved Rugrats as young children. Produced by Rugrats creators Klasky Csupo Inc., continues the adventures of Nancy's character Chuckie, Tommy Pickles, Angelica, Susie, Kimi and Dil as they comically face common pre-teen issues and dilemmas. Check your local listings for times.
